Dear Valued Customer:

I am writing to share some exciting news about the next step in the evolution of our company. Today we announced an agreement for Lam to combine with KLA-Tencor, creating an industry leader ideally equipped to deliver a new paradigm of collaboration and innovation to increase our contributions to your success. This complementary combination of Lam's best-in-class capabilities in deposition, etch, and clean with KLA-Tencor's leadership in inspection and metrology unites two companies with close product adjacency and competencies, increasing our technical scale and capability.

The decision to combine our two companies occurs at a time of transformation for both of our respective industries. As we have all experienced, the complexity facing this industry continues to increase, requiring greater innovation and collaboration in order to meet the demands of industry scaling. This is the vision driving our combination with KLA-Tencor and you have our commitment to execute on this vision.

As a combined company we aspire to deliver unmatched capability, creating more choices and solutions for you in process and process control. In partnership with you, we plan to deliver enhanced value, by reducing variability and accelerating yield, harnessing the strengths of our collective capabilities.

We believe exciting opportunities exist at the intersection of process and process control, with the transition to 3D device architectures, multi-patterning imaging, advanced packaging integration schemes, and next-generation memory solutions driving the need for innovative and productive process solutions at the atomic level. We are confident that our ability to better meet your needs will be accelerated by the combination of best in class process performance with industry leading metrology, inspection and analytical capability.

As we embark on this journey, we act with one singular focus: to remain a trusted supplier to enable and contribute more to your success. Over the past several years, I have benefitted greatly from strategic discussions with your company and sincerely hope that continues. That very dialogue has framed the combination we announced today. I would respectfully ask your assistance in creating an even closer partnership to ensure we are developing a comprehensive value proposition supporting long-term success for you, our valued customer.

The transaction is subject to customary regulatory approval and approval from our stockholders, and we expect it to close mid calendar 2016. Given Lam's and KLA-Tencor's common focus on technology and execution and commitment to customer support, I commit to you a smooth and seamless transition. Until closing, it will continue to be business as usual at Lam and KLA-Tencor. You should expect the same high level of service and quality you have come to expect from our team. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

I thank you for your support of Lam and look forward to discussing how we can continue to meet your needs in the future while pursuing new opportunities together.
